Harding Policy A Stake In Election

ST. PAUL, MINN., July 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Minnesota's electorate in today's senatorial election is polling a vote far in excess of the 300,000 cast in the June primary, reports at noon from representative counties indicated. The total may exceed 500,000 as compared to 800,000 eligible voters in the state.

ST. PAUL, MINN., July 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Voters of Minnesota today are writing the verdict in the unprecedented contest involving the selection of a United States senator in succession to the late Knute Nelson. In 3,326 polling precincts ballots are being marked, determining whether a supporter of the Harding administration shall go to the senate or if this state shall throw its complete senatorial strength to the LaFollette group. While there are three candidates, it is between Governor J. A. O. Reus, Republican, and a Harding adherent, and Magnus Johnson, Farmer-Laborite, and follower of Robert M. LaFollette, that the real contest lies.

James A. Carley, state senator, and Democratic choice, is the third candidate but his political friends counted him out of the race before the polls opened at six a. m. today.

The election ends a campaign unusual in the political annals of the state. Called specifically to fill the vacancy Senator Nelson's death created, the primaries June 18, was marked by apathetic balloting that attracted only a few more than 300,000 of the state's 800,000 voters.

Immediately after the primary there was no apparent change in the attitude of the average voter, political spellbinders cast their spell in vain, and indications were that today's election would roll around with a repetition of the primary vote a prospect.

Then it appeared that the country try at large was vitally interested in the outcome—that it viewed it as a test between the policies of the Harding administration and things advocated by the LaFollette bloc.

This national interest, many politicians say, went a long way to arouse the voters to the importance of the contest and the expectation early today was that a vote considerably larger than the primary poll would be cast today.

The usual expressions of confidence were available today at the several party headquarters, but the neutral observers found little tangible information on which to base predictions on the outcome with any assurance of accuracy.

In the general election last fall, Minnesota chose as United States senator Dr. Henrik Shipstead, a farmer-laborite giving him a total of 325,377 votes as compared to 241,633 for Senator Frank B. Kellogg, Republican.

Competing in the gubernatorial race in the same election Governor Reus defeated Magnus Johnson, 309,754 votes to 295,470 with the candidates bearing the same party affiliation as they do today. Reus supporters say the Johnson vote last fall was carried through by the Shipstead showing; Johnson adherents say the Farmer-Laborite made no fight for the governorship, concentrating on the senatorial race, and that today, with all interest centered on the single contest, Johnson will poll a vote in ratio to that given Shipstead over Kellogg.

Poincare Refuses To Modify Demands

PARIS, July 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Poincare's address at Senlis yesterday was a mere reiteration of the French government's policy and was not intended as a reply to the recent reparations speech of Prime Minister Baldwin of Great Britain. It was explained in official circles here today.

The entire address, with the exception of a few paragraphs, was written before the British premier spoke, it was stated.

It is considered in official circles, it was added that the situation between Great Britain and France up to the time the promised British note is received will be exactly the same as that obtaining since last January.

British Aspirations Get Set Back

LONDON, July 16.—(By the Associated Press)—British hopes of assuming the allied leadership in the negotiations for a reparations settlement with Germany are considered here to have had a serious setback during the weekend by reason of the speeches which Premier Poincare of France delivered at Senlis Sunday. Nevertheless the British officials who returned to Downing Street early today to resume the task of drafting a reply to the latest German offer were not so sure that the situation was as gloomy as the news from Paris seemed to indicate.

The British attitude as reflected in official circles is that the least said is soonest mended. The British leader, it is recognized that the atmosphere of a war memorial unveiling was not a suitable one for the announcement of any change in French policies and the fact that Premier Poincare merely re-affirmed the rigid French views without making them any stronger offered some little satisfaction and encouragement.

SENIS, FRANCE, July 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Raymond Poincare yesterday proclaimed the French government's unalterable decision to stand for complete execution of the Versailles peace treaty, with the German debt at 132,000,000 gold marks as agreed upon by the allies at the London conference, and against any international financial committee to replace the reparations commission.

Mr. Poincare said France had fulfilled the making of concessions to Germany and was tired of temporizing with that country.

The premier's strongly worded address, while carefully refraining from mentioning the speech of Stanley Baldwin, British premier, in the house of commons last week, is considered as being the French government's definitive answer to the British position with regard to the occupation of the Ruhr.

Town Selected Carefully

Officers Go After Moore Accused Of Complicity In Adams Co. Murder

Sheriff Harry M. Dunham and Deputy Sheriff Walter White, of Adams county, left Sunday night for Jenkins, Letcher county, Kentucky, to bring back to Ohio Frank Moore, 22 years old, accused of complicity with the murder of Robert F. Morris, West Virginia coal miner, whose decomposed body was found on the bank Brush Creek, near West Union, on June 16.

Moore, who is a native of Adams county and quite well known in this city, having been employed here for the past two or three years, was implicated in the killing of Morris by the confession of John Spires, young man of Wamsleyville, Adams county, now in the county jail at West Union, where he is held in connection with the crime. According to Spires' story, Morris was killed by Moore and an unknown man in an automobile in a lonely spot on a highway near Oway early on the morning of May 29 last with robbery as the motive. Spires denies participating in the murder, but admits receiving $100 from one of the two men after the body of Morris was placed on the creek bank. Moore was taken into custody last Friday afternoon by Marshal J. D. Hale at McRoberts, Ky., where he had taken employment in a coal mine and at the instance of Sheriff Dunham the suspect was taken to Jenkins for safekeeping pending the arrival of the Ohio officers. Following his arrest Moore disclaimed all knowledge of the murder, according to telegraphic information and readily consented to return to Ohio without extradition papers.

The officers are expected to arrive home sometime Tuesday with their prisoner.

Woman Clings To Story; Murder Unsolved

CATLETTSBURG, KY., July 16.—John F. Colburn, prosecuting attorney of Boyd county, Kentucky, last night denied that Marie "Tootsie" Kieck, held in the Boyd county jail in connection with an investigation into the death of William Robinson, had retracted her story that Robert McDowell of Huntington had not fired a revolver on the Big Sandy bridge the night of Robinson's death.

Robinson, collector of tolls on the bridge, died from a bullet wound. Harley Hunt, a companion of the Kirk girl and McDowell on a night automobile ride, pointed to McDowell as having fired the shot that killed Robinson.

Prosecutor Colburn declared last night he had heard nothing about "Tootsie's" new version of the shooting, and expressed doubt as to the accuracy of reports carrying the story that she had joined Hunt in accusing McDowell in the death of Robinson.

How About It, Mr. Abele?

I certainly do admire this gentleman for his stand on good roads and jumping on Scioto county about that rotten road at Franklin Furnace. But how about Third street to Coal Grove in Ironton or more important, how about that mile Lawrence County is holding up for some time near Oak Hill? Understand, I'm for you, Mr. Abele but are you after your politicians in Lawrence County? Maybe you'll get that mile job done when Rom gets his six miles to his wood pile. You know that mile of unimproved is just as important to Scioto county as it is to Lawrence—just as important as it is for me to sell just a little better pair of genuine tan or black calf oxfords at seven and seventy-five and "no extras" for fitting. One pair convince you I'm right.

Death Calls Eben J. Jones

OAK HILL, July 16.—The community was shocked Friday evening to hear of the death of Eben J. Jones, which occurred on that day at Holzer hospital, Gallipolis. Michael, husband of Jenny Penden, disappears and Robert Redmayne, uncle to Jenny, is suspected of murder. Mark Brendon, criminal investigator, has charge of the case. Jenny goes to live with her uncle, Bendigo Redmayne. Robert, in hiding, sends for Bendigo to come to a secret cave. Both men disappear and there is evidence of a terrible struggle in the cave.

Jenny marries Giuseppe Doria, who works for Bendigo, and they go to live in Italy where Jenny's uncle, Albert Redmayne, lives.

Peter Ganns, famous American detective, assists Brendon in the investigations.

Ganns arranges an arrest of Doria. Jenny is killed when she throws herself in front of her husband and receives the bullet meant for him when he tries to escape.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
Nothing at present was positively known by me which made it out of the question that Joseph Penden's wife should be the mother of Giuseppe Doria. But none the less many facts might exist as yet beyond my knowledge, which would prove such a suspicion vain. I considered how to obtain these facts and naturally my thought turned to Giuseppe himself.

"Having found out what Penden could tell me, I beat it up to Dartmouth, because I was exceedingly anxious to learn, if possible, the exact date when Giuseppe Doria entered the employment of Bendigo Redmayne as motor boatman. Albert's brother hadn't any friends that I could find; but I traced his doctor and though he was not in a position to enlighten me, he knew another man—an innkeeper at Torcross some miles away on the coast—who might be familiar with this vital date.

"Mr. Noah Blades proved a very shrewd and capable chap. Bendigo Redmayne had known him well, and it was after spending a week at the Torcross Hotel with Blades and going fishing in his motor boat, that the old sailor had decided to start one himself at 'Crow's Nest'. He did so and his first boatman was a failure. Then he advertised for another and received a good many applications. He'd sailed with Italians and liked them on a ship, and he decided for Giuseppe Doria, whose testimonials appeared to be exceptional. The man came alone and, two days after his arrival, ran Bendigo down to Torcross in his launch to see Blades.

"Redmayne, of course, was full of the murder at Princeton, which had just occurred, and the tragedy proved so interesting that Blades had little time to notice the new motor boatman. But what matters is that we know it was on the day after the murder — on the very day Bendigo heard what his brother, Robert, was supposed to have done at Fagazine Quarry — that his new man, Giuseppe Doria, arrived at 'Crow's Nest' and took on his new duties.

"That meant that not Penden, but his wife's uncle, Robert Redmayne, perished on Dartmoor. And there he lies yet, my son!"

Mr. Ganns took snuff and proceeded.

"Here, I think, we may spare a tribute of admiration to Penden's histrionics. Both he and his wife were heaven-born comedians as well as well-born criminals.

"That he will leave a full statement before the end, I venture to prophesy. His egotisms vainly demands it. You may even expect something a little new in the suicide line if he give him a chance; for he sure he's thought of that."

"And now I'll indicate how I brought fact after fact to bombard my theory, and how the theory withstood every assault until I was bound to accept it and act upon it."

"We start with the assumption that Penden is living and Robert Redmayne dead. We next assume that Penden, having laid out his wife's uncle at Fagazine, gets into his clothes, puts on a red mustache and a red wig and starts for Henry Head on Redmayne's motor bicycle.

The sack supposed to contain the body is found, and that is all. His purpose is to indicate a hiding-place for the corpse and lead search in a certain direction; but he is not going to stand the risk of Robert Redmayne's corpse spoiling his game. No, his plan never left Fagazine, and probably Michael will presently tell us where to find the body."

"Meanwhile a false atmosphere is created under which he proceeds to his engagement at 'Crow's Nest'. And then what happens? The first clue—the forged letter, purporting to come from Robert Redmayne to his brother. Who sent it? Jenny Penden on her way through Plymouth to her Uncle Bendigo's home."

"Jenny plays widow but spends as much time as she wants in her husband's arms all the same; and together they plan to put out poor Ben. He'd never seen Penden, of course, which made the thing seem all the more possible. I incline to think that Michael meant to begin with the old sailor and that when Robert turned up unexpectedly at Dartmoor, he changed his plans."

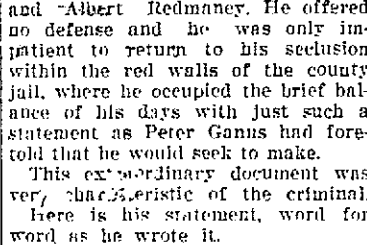

"Now we come to the preliminary stage at 'Crow's Nest' which ended in the death of the second brother. You offered just the starting point, and before you left on that rough, moonlight night, Penden had created the tragedy of Robert Redmayne and appeared before you in that character. And not content with that, he took the part going for a red wig and a red mustache, and was seen by Mr. Ganns, the famous detective. Now we get to Redmayne's, but with the foggy, follow each step. Bendigo never sees the supposed brother, once you never see him again. Your mind search through the words of Blades, but Jenny and

CHAPTER XVIII

Confession

DURING the autumn assizes, Michael Penden was tried at Exeter and condemned to death for the murders of Robert, Bendigo and Albert Redmayne. He offered no defense and he was only impatient to return to his seclusion within the red walls of the county jail, where he occupied the brief balance of his days with just such a statement as Peter Ganns had foretold that he would seek to make.

This extraordinary document was very characteristic of the criminal. Here is his statement, word for word as he wrote it.

"I HURLED HIM OVER THE CLIFF"

MY APOLOGIA

"Hearken, ye judges! There is another madness besides, and it is before the deed. Ah! Ye have not gone deep enough into this soul! This speaketh the red judge: 'Why did this criminal commit murder? He meant to rob.' I tell you, however, that his soul hungered for blood, not booty; he thirsted for the happiness of the knife."

And again:

"What is this man? A coil of wild serpents at war against themselves — so they are driven apart to seek their prey in the world."

So wrote one whose art and wisdom are sought to this rabbit-brained generation; but it was given to me to find my meat and drink within his pages and to see my own youthful impressions reflected and corrected with the brilliance of genius in his stupendous mind.

Remember, I, who write, am not thirty years old.

As a young man without experience I sometimes asked myself if some spirit from another order of beings than my own had not been slipped into my human carcass. It seemed to me that none with whom I came in contact was built on, or near, my own pattern, for I had only met one person as yet — my mother, who did not suffer from the madness of a mad conscience. My father and his friends wallowed in this complaint.

At fifteen years of age I killed a man, and found, in a murder investigation, for very definite reasons, a thrill beyond expectation. That incident is unknown; the death of my father's foreman, Job Trevoise, has not been understood till now. He lived at Paul, a village upon the heights right in front of me. Among the fish curing sheds one day, unseen, I chanced to hear Trevoise speak of no mother to another man and declare that she did evil and dishonored my father.

From that moment I doomed Trevoise to death, and some weeks later, after many failures to win the right conditions, caught him alone in a sea boat. I walked beside him for fifty paces, then fell behind, leaped at his neck and hurled him over the cliff in an instant.

My life proceeded orderly; I chose the profession of dentist, as being the least attractive one to people of my father's acquaintance, and I kept an open mind for myself, but a shut mind for others.

The fruitless Robert Redmayne brought his case to spend his school holiday with him and I discovered in the seventeen-year-old school girl a magnificent and pagan simplicity of mind, combined with a Greek loveliness of body that created in me a conviction.

We loved one another devotedly from the first understanding.

Miss Dolly Wise

She's here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—I read with interest the letter in Sunday's paper about camp stoves in York park and other convenient places and I have another suggestion that I would like to offer. This time it is not to the Chamber of Commerce or the city of Portsmouth but to the farmers and land owners along the rivers and creeks near Portsmouth. I think the farmers who own this land would reap a fortune and be doing a wonderful thing for their fellow man if they would build summer cottages on all the ground along the water and rent them to the people of Portsmouth who want to spend the summer in the country but can't afford to take a big trip or lay off work to go away to some other watering place. They could make enough from the rent in the summer to pay for the building and they would not need to be expensive. Just a straight board house on the order of a garage, unpainted inside with a good sized screened porch or plenty of screened windows. It would not be necessary to have glass in them. They could have wood shutters as large as necessary to close up in winter and the side walls screened in for the summer. We could use at least five hundred summer cottages around Portsmouth. The men could take their families out there and keep on with their work in the city until time for them to get off for a week or week end. It would not take much of their ground, and it would be clear money to them.

SHOE WORKER.

Here's hoping some of the farmers will take a hint and build several hundred summer cottages on the banks of the creeks and rivers near the city before another summer rolls around.

Dear Dolly—Please tell me the different colors of auto licenses in every state in the United States. Dolly, if a girl will be 16 in a couple of weeks after school starts and has passed the eighth grade, can they make her buy books and go for those two weeks? Can you get permanent waves in your hair? How much does it cost? Dolly, don't you think when dump wagons go along the street full of dirt and they drop it all along in front of your house they ought to clean it up? When it rains our streets are so muddy we can hardly cross them. When it is dry the dust is terrible. Answer my letter right away.

WANT TO KNOW.

I don't know the color of every auto license in the United States and I don't think it necessary for anyone else to know. You will have to go to school or go to work, and I think most anyone would prefer school to work—that is if they know what is good for them, and what work is. You can only go to school a few years at the most, but when you start to work, you will have to keep at it as long as you are able to navigate. Then too, you are not old enough to go to work as no one will employ a girl until she is eighteen. You can get waves that will last as long as three months for a dollar a wave, but they don't always last that long. Why not get yourself an electric curler and "wave" yourself.

Consult Service Director about the dump wagons messing up your street.

Dear Dolly—Do you know of anything that is good for sun burn? When I go in bathing my back and arms get terribly sore.

AMATEUR BATHER.

If you will rub the exposed parts with cold cream before going into the sun, danger of sunburn will be almost done away with. If you force to do this you might rub the affected parts with cold cream, or any other kind of a soothing cream.

Dear Miss Wise—Will you please print a recipe for lemon crackers? Lemon Crackers: Two cups sugar, one cup each of buttermilk and lard, or other shortening, one teaspoon of soda dissolved in the milk, a half teaspoon of salt, two teaspoonsful of lemon extract, and flour to make a stiff dough. Work well and place in tins so they will be separate.

Dear Dolly—Can you tell me something to close the pores of my skin? I've tried massage and nothing seems to do any good. I've heard there's things you can buy at the drug stores. So if you can tell me something I'd appreciate it so much.

W. G. V.

A few drops of benzoin in the rinse water is good for enlarged pores. Equal parts of bay rum and rose water may also be used to adjustant to keep the pores in good condition. A saturated solution of borax is also very nice for an oily skin.

LEARN TO SWIM

DIVING'S LOTS OF FUN AND IF YOU DO IT CORRECTLY YOU WON'T GET HURT WHEN YOU HIT WATER

BY LYBA M. SHEFFIELD

Director of Swimming, University of California Summer Session, and Co-Author of "Swimming Simplified"

FOURTH ARTICLE—HOW TO DIVE

SAN FRANCISCO, July 16—Many beginners think that diving is jumping into the water.

But they usually learn from experience that the water can give hard knocks when entered improperly. And they are lucky if they do not also discover from experience that an improper dive may cause a swimmer to strike his head against the bottom of the tank.

So it will pay you to learn diving slowly and thoroughly before you attempt dives or "jump-ins" of your own invention.

The hands play a very important part in diving. They are the "break" which parts the water.

To get the correct position, raise your arms straight up, then cross the palm of the left hand over the back of the right hand, "locking" your thumbs.

Now kneel on the edge of the pool and bend the body forward until the chin is as far forward as possible. Extend your arms in front of you, "covering" the ears, and fix your hands for diving.

Head Controls Body

Inhale a deep breath and "fall" into the water, hands and head first. Keep the arms and head in the starting position until the body is under water; then come to the surface by pointing the fingers up and raising the head and shoulders.

Always remember that the head controls the position of the body both in the air and in the water, and that it is the means of directing your course. Upon entering the water, the hands and head should be down to carry you under properly; to regain the surface, they should be raised.

Practice the fall-in described above until you enter the water naturally, easily and without a last minute desire to hold back, then progress to the standing fall-in.

For this, you stand on the edge of the pool, toes gripping the edge, knees flexed. Bend forward, assuming the same position with the arms and upper body that you took for the kneeling fall-in, and enter the water by rising on the toes and falling forward, holding the entire body in the starting position until it is submerged. Of course, the hands and head enter first.

Master Fall-In

Remember not to stiffen or straighten the body when falling forward, or you will fall flat on the water's surface with painful consequences to yourself. In diving the body should enter the water at a 45-degree angle.

After you are proficient in the fall-in, you are ready for true diving.

Take the same position you assumed for the standing fall-in, body bent forward, arms extended and knees flexed.

Then quickly rise on the toes, straighten the knees and thus enter the water.

As you did in the fall-in, keep your body in the starting position until it is completely submerged; then bring yourself to the surface by pointing the fingers upward and raising the head and shoulders.

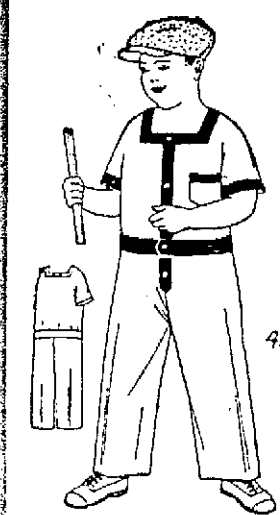

After you become used to this dive, you will be able to execute it without the preliminary bending forward or the necessity of getting correct position with the arms and hands before diving off; you will assume these positions while in the air.

All the fancy diving you see is founded on this elementary dive; so you will want to master it thoroughly before attempting more spectacular efforts.

TOMORROW: How to swim the side under-arm stroke.

Local friends of Mrs. Winnie Gould MacBride, of Ann Arbor, Mich., who formerly resided in this city and at Franklin Furnace, will be interested in the announcement of the marriage of her daughter, Miss Lavina MacBride, who also spent part of her childhood in Portsmouth, which took place in Shirley, Mass., on July twelfth to Mr. Robert K. MacKaye, who comes from the distinguished literary family of poets by that name.

The Evening News of Ayer, Mass., of Thursday, July 12th, contains the following interesting account of the wedding:

"A pretty mid-summer wedding took place in the First Parish church at Shirley Center on Thursday noon, when Robert Keith MacKaye, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy MacKaye, and Miss Lavina G. MacBride of Ann Arbor, Mich., were united in marriage in the historic edifice where the father and mother of the groom were wedded years ago, and where the groom was christened.

The auditorium of the church was beautifully decorated in white and pink, the material being sweet peas from the garden of Frank J. Lawton, forget-me-nots and willow weed. On the altar was a silver loving cup used at the wedding of the parents of the groom, and later at the groom's christening. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Albert Parker Fitch, of Cornish, N. H., former head of the Andover Theological school and now professor and minister at Amherst college.

"The bride wore her mother's wedding gown, and was very charming in a white veil and orange blossoms, carrying a shower bouquet of white flowers. The bridesmaids, Miss Katherine MacBride, sister of the bride, and Miss Christy MacKaye, sister of the groom, wore gowns of lavender and blue and carried pink nosegays. John Edsall, classmate and roommate of the groom at Harvard university, and son of Dean Edsall of Harvard Medical college, was best man.

"Mrs. Howard M. Longley presided at the organ, rendering the Bridal Chorus from 'Lohengrin,' as a professional and using Mendelssohn's wedding march as a recessional. An unusual feature of the ceremony was the fact that the wedding occurred on the 78th birthday of the grandmother of the groom, Mrs. Steele MacKaye.

"Following the ceremony, at which there were present many guests from out of town, including classmates and college friends of the groom at Harvard, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom's parents on Parker road. Mr. and Mrs. MacKaye left soon after on their honeymoon and are to be at home during August at Cornish, N. H.

"The bride is a graduate of University of Michigan, class of '20, receiving the degree of A. M. The groom was graduated with the class of '23 at Harvard university, with the degree of A. B. Like his father, Percy MacKaye, the well-known author and playwright, he plans to devote himself to literature, and is to follow the profession of writer. He intends to locate in New York City.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
Olive Roberts Barton

"My, you sound like a train!" said Nick.

THE land on the other side of the rainbow door certainly was queer. People you never would believe could happen anywhere. Not even in fairy tale books.

Long before the Twins got to Sneezetown with Mister Sky Bow, they heard a loud sneezing and under noses blowing that sounded like the Fourth of July. The sneezing sounded like whizzers and the nose blowing sounded like firecrackers.

When they finally got near to Sneezetown, they could hardly see the place for the number of pocket handkerchiefs flying on the clothes line.

But soon a Sneezey saw them and called a greeting. "Hello," he shouted. "Come and have some snuff and get a nice red nose. No one in Sneezetown is fashionable unless he has a red nose. A-choo! Oh, how lovely! A-choo! A-choo! A-choo, choo, choo!"

"My, you sound like a train!" said Nick.

JACK DAW'S ADVENTURES — UNDER THE SEA

Finally the octopoleman swung around and motioned Jack and the watermelon and Flip to pass. And, as they moved along Jack looked down and saw that a sea serpent was moving along right beside him. Flip also noticed the great, long serpent and started to bark at him.

Flip was the most surprised dog imaginable when he discovered that he couldn't hear his own bark. In fact, he was so surprised that he stopped barking. By this time Flip and Jack had passed the crossing but the serpent was still moving slowly along, and only half way across.

Sciotoville Beats Haldeman Team

The Sciotoville ball team invaded the land of the enemy Sunday when they journeyed to Haldeman, Ky., and took the home team into camp after ten rounds of exciting play. The score of 8 to 6, the Ohio troupe winning it out in the final frame by pushing over a couple of tallies.

Goodman pitched well for the winners, fanning 10 and allowing but five hits, two of which were long blows and kept the Kentuckians in the fray. The hitting of Artie, Schuler and Goodman was an important factor in the victory, the trio grabbing off four safe blows each. McKenzie and Burns formed the battery for the losers.

"Homecoming" And Basket Dinner To Be Held Friday By Portsmouth District Methodists

Dr. J. R. Hawk, superintendent of Portsmouth District of the Methodist Episcopal Church, announces a great Homecoming and Basket Dinner to be held next Friday, July 20, at Beech Wood Camp, on the Little Scioto near Sciotoville. This affair is the outgrowth of an annual picnic that has been held each summer by the members of the Portsmouth District Rural Life Association and their families. This year they are expanding the picnic to include everybody in the whole district.

Invitations have been sent to all churches everywhere who ever served a church in Portsmouth district, and to all preachers who were born, raised or went into the ministry from churches in the district. A great many of them indicated their intention of being present at this homecoming. There will also be many visiting laymen and families who formerly lived in the district and belonged to churches here.

The pastors and members of Portsmouth district Methodist churches are the hosts and a large number of them will be there with full baskets, enough for themselves and the visitors from out of the district. The affair lasts all day Friday. The big basket dinner will be spread at noon, and supper will also be spread for those who can stay for it.

Beech Wood camp is the summer home of Mr. Ben Stewart, popular grocer and member of Manly church. He has most graciously offered the use of it for this occasion. It is one of the most delightful places on the Little Scioto. Large trees furnish shade and the bungalow will be available for rest and for the use of mothers with small children to care for. There will be hunting, swimming, horseshoe pitching and baseball for those who care for these sports, and swings for the children.

All Methodists of the vicinity are being urged to attend. This is a splendid opportunity to greet former pastors and enjoy a happy time together. From all indications this will be one of the greatest occasions ever held in the district.

Kramer Eats Anything Set Before Him Now

"Tanlac put an end to a mighty bad case of indigestion for me, and gave me the appetite and energy of a sailor," declared Charles W. Kramer, of 520 Erie Avenue, N. E., Cleveland, Ohio, recently.

"Why, I'm eating pork, sauerkraut, pastries and everything now and I have gained ten pounds."

"Before taking Tanlac, I had a hot acid feeling and awful cramps in my stomach, and gas bloated me up until my heart felt like it would stop beating. I was constipated, had chills, headaches and dizzy spells, and was so nervous I couldn't sleep well. I was hardly eating enough to keep body and soul together and I lost weight and got so run-down the outlook was far from rosy."

"Well, sir, four bottles of the Tanlac treatment drove out every trace of my troubles, and today I am eating, sleeping and feeling fine. I always keep Tanlac handy—just wouldn't be without it!"

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

BUYS COUNTRY STORE AND HOME

Thomas M. Carver of East Portsmouth, has purchased a part of the Jessie Wymer farm, now known as the Wiley Allotment, also the general store of Enoch Wiley on the Harrisonville pike near the Divide. The purchase was made through the W. W. Widener Co., and the Carvers will take immediate possession.

Lawyer Tells How He Gained Weight and Strength By Taking Bitro-Phosphate.

Earl Drake, an Arizona lawyer, makes an interesting report on the use of Bitro-Phosphate for overcoming weakness, nervousness, etc. He says "I was all run-down, nervous and thin. In six months' time I gained 12 pounds, my nerves became steady, my appearance improved and I can now do everything that requires nervous energy." Scores of weak, nervous people should profit by this lawyer's experience. Bitro-Phosphate is inexpensive, safe to take and can be obtained from any good druggist. —Advertisement

Fine Dog Killed

A fine coon hound owned by Ben Dunham, Gallia street, was run over and killed in front of his Meat Market, Saturday. He bought two coon dogs about a month ago, one of these he sent to the country and the other he kept at his home. Saturday some one must have turned the dog loose, as he always kept it tied up and it ran out on Gallia street and was hit by an automobile. This is the fifth dog Dunham has lost within a short time.

Auto Stolen July 4th Found At Piqua; Young Man Held

Local police received word Sunday from Piqua, O., authorities that they had under arrest a young man named Eubanks and probably a stolen machine. They gave the number of the machine they held and it was found to be the Ford stolen from Charles Mereshon on Pond Creek the night of July 4. The machine was stolen from near the Frank White home on Pond Creek.

The Piqua police arrested Eubanks after he had acted suspiciously when talking about the machine located in a garage in Covington, a small place near Piqua. Mereshon and a friend left this morning for Piqua to get the machine and the man under arrest.

Ministers To Enjoy Outing

The Portsmouth district of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold an all day picnic and home coming for former pastors on Friday, July 20. The place is that delightful summer camp of Ben Stewart's on the Little Scioto opposite the "Narrows" (Camp Beechwood). All Methodist laymen and their friends are invited to join in one big joyous day and meet old pastors.

Delegations are expected from all over the district. About 120 ministers of the Ohio conference have served churches in Portsmouth district. Many have signified their intention to come.

Plenty of good water to drink. Lots and lots of shade. Good walking and swimming, horseshoe courts, swings, baseball field and a fine bungalow at the command of those who attend.

WELLSTON BRICKMASONS QUIT WORK

WELLSTON, July 16.—The brick masons employed on the city high school building laid down their tools this morning. According to one of them, the trouble grew out of the inspection of the work. They demanded the removal of the inspector.

The matter is being taken up and all hope that the difference may be satisfactorily adjusted and the work proceed.

TUBERCULOSIS
Get well in Ohio!

Why Go West To Get Cured Of Tuberculosis? Climate has no advantage in the treatment of this disease. One climate is just as good as another. And Ohio climate is just as beneficial for the cure of this disease as the climate anywhere in the United States.

What counts most is proper treatment and this can best be obtained in a sanatorium or hospital devoted exclusively to the treatment of tuberculosis.

The Rocky Glen Sanatorium, the oldest private tuberculosis sanatorium in Ohio, is an institution devoted entirely to the treatment of lung diseases. It is located in the hills of southeastern Ohio, where scenery, surroundings and atmosphere are ideal; where wholesome food, properly prepared, pleasant associations, proper rest, fresh air, and beautiful recreation are associated under the watchful guidance of experienced physicians and nurses. Rates are very reasonable.

Send for booklet free, describing its facilities. Learn about its splendid record. But do it NOW before it is too late.

Are Freight Rates Too High?

Some uninformed persons say that freight rates are too high. You are interested in this because there is a freight charge on all you eat or wear.

Let's see if the railroads are overpaid for hauling your necessities.

Of course, coffee is served in your home; it is a comforting beverage. A great deal of coffee comes from South America and reaches you by way of Hampton Roads. The Chesapeake and Ohio hauls coffee from Newport News, Va., to Charleston, W. Va., at a charge of 56 cents a hundred pounds, a revenue for the railway of a trifle more than half a cent for each pound moved a distance of 454 miles. Is that too much money for the Chesapeake and Ohio to make?

You are interested in the price of shoes and probably have heard that their high cost is due to freight rates. Be your own judge. Here are the facts: The freight charges from representative points in Massachusetts, where thousands of pairs of shoes are manufactured, to Huntington, W. Va., is a fraction less than $1.17 per hundred pounds. The average pair of shoes weighs about three pounds. This means that the revenue derived by the railroads for hauling a pair of shoes from Massachusetts to Huntington, a distance of approximately 850 miles, is 3.6 cents. If the price of a pair of shoes is $5, it would be interesting to know how the balance of $4.96 is divided.

What is true of coffee and shoes is also true of other commodities.

322nd Holds Reunion

HAMILTON, O., July 16.—(By the Associated Press)—About 300 men held their civic today as they marched in a parade which opened the one day program at the annual reunion of the 322nd Field Artillery Association. Despite years in civilian pursuits the former soldiers had a military bearing.

Col. A. B. Warfield, who commanded the regiment, originally part of the 83rd Division at the Argonne battle came from Washington to speak at the banquet tonight. A boxing match will close the day.

The regiment had many members from Cincinnati and Dayton and was trained at Camp Sherman, Ohio.

CLEVELAND LIVESTOCK

CHICAGO, July 16—Low price record for the season underwent a further break in the wheat market today during the early dealings. All deliveries dropped well below Saturday's finish. Much enlarged country offerings of wheat to arrive here and a decided bullish influence and so too had weakness in Liverpool quotations together with pessimism from Premier Poincare's talk about French relations with Germany. The opening which varied from unchanged figures to 3/4c lower with September 97 1/2 to 97 3/4 and December 100 1/4 to 100 3/4 were followed by a slight rally and then by another sag.

Corn and oats were depressed by the action of wheat and by fairly liberal receipts of corn here. After opening 1/2 to 3/4 lower, September 74 1/4 to 74 1/2, the corn market recovered somewhat.

Oats started a shade to 1c down, Sept. 34 to 34 1/2 and held at about that initial figure.

Provisions were easier with grain, notwithstanding higher quotations on hogs.

New Tyrian Council Instituted Here

Tyrian council, U. D. Royal and Select Masters, was constituted under letters of dispensation, Sunday, July 15th, by the Thrice Illustrious Grand Master, Charles E. Gordon, 33rd, of Cleveland, Ohio.

Companion Gordon arrived Saturday night, and on Sunday the degrees of Royal Master, Select Master and Super-Excellent Master were conferred upon a class of candidates.

The Thrice Illustrious Grand Master was assisted by the local Royal and Select Masters, formerly members of Herald council, No. 3, R. & S. M. of Columbus. The cryptic degrees of Freemasonry, being "optional degrees," have heretofore been conferred in a few councils located at convenient points in the state.

Now there are many new councils to be established. The council work is supplementary to the work of the Royal Arch chapter which it more fully explains. Adoniram council, No. 1, of Cleveland, Ohio, holds precedence in this jurisdiction. In it were the two old masters of Prince Hall Masonic lineage, William T. Boyd, and T. H. Edmonds, and at present, Charles E. Gordon, a worthy successor to the first two named in the Royal and Select work.

The late Leroy Johnson of this city was Right Illustrious Grand Recorder of the Grand council, R. & S. M. of Ohio, and jurisdiction, at the time of his death.

The dispensation for Tyrian council was placed in the hands of the following principal officers: Thrice Illustrious Master—Oltner Redunn.

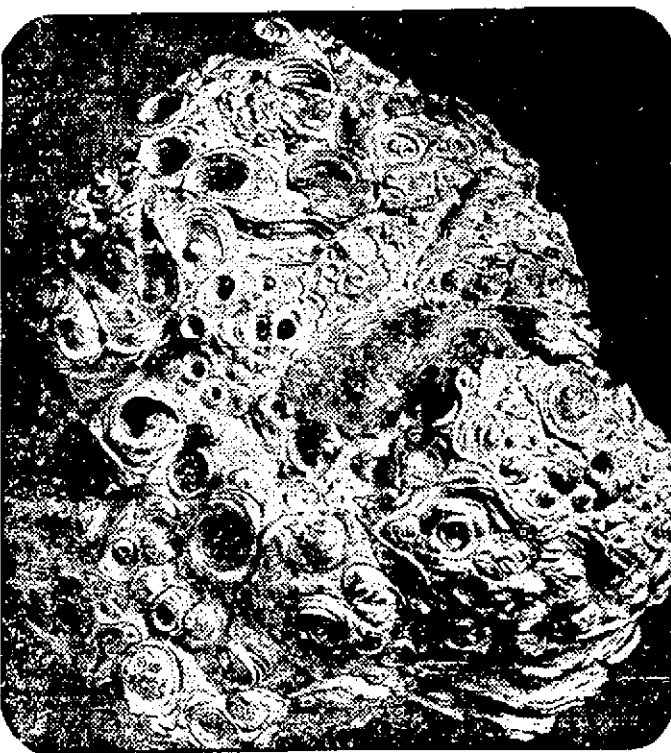

Illustrious Deputy Master—Carl F. Parker.
Illustrious Principal Conductor of Work—William Gooden.
The other officers are as follows: Treasurer—James A. Melvin.
Recorder—Philip M. Watts.
Captain of Guard—B. W. Waller.
Conductor of Council—Berry Laney.
Steward—Edward Thueston.
Sergeant—William Fields.

Tyrian council starts out with a number of active companions. It is composed mainly of Royal and Select Masters, who are members of Trinity lodge, No. 9, F. & A. M., and Scioto chapter, No. 9, R. A. M., of this city. The annual assembly of the Grand council, R. & S. M. will convene in August at Dayton.

World War Vets To Press Congress For Better Measures

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 16.—(By the Associated Press)—A legislative program calling for adjusted compensation for world war veterans and affecting their rehabilitation, hospital care and insurance will be pressed upon congress when it convenes in December by the disabled American veterans of the world war. The program, based on recommendations adopted by the third annual convention of the organization held recently at Minneapolis, was announced here today.

The proposals provide a rating of total permanent disability for veterans who have been given hospital care for twelve consecutive months and that all veterans so rated and those being treated at home shall receive the same family allowance as given veterans' bureau trainees. An effort will also be made to have all veterans recommended for permanent total disability rating carried on this roll temporarily pending final award.

Total disability rating will be sought for men entitled to training which has been declared not to be feasible for men entitled to training which has been declared not to be feasible and a rating of fifty per cent permanent disability will be asked for men discharged from hospitals with diagnosis of arrested or quiescent tuberculosis.

Amendment of the civil service laws will be proposed to place disabled veterans who attain a passing grade in an examination at the head of the eligible list.

Hospital treatment for all veterans regardless of the origin of their disability is urged, together with extension of the three-year-period of presumption for tubercular and neuropsychiatric disabilities.

Removal of the time limit on application for compensation and permission for any applicant to appear before the rating board in persons at government expense are asked and the same privilege of re-litigating war risk insurance is sought for veterans disabled in the service as enjoyed by those not disabled.

Among other proposals is one for establishment of a committee on veterans' affairs in the house of representatives.

THE ARCH PRESERVER SHOE

If You Are Tall and Slender

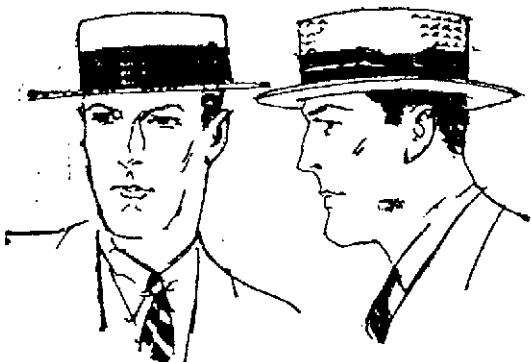

IT is graceful to be tall and slender when we are well proportioned. But if we are not careful, as we grow older we are apt to develop angles instead of curves, and unkind people call us not "slim", but "thin". The cure for this tendency is the persuasive moulding of those Gossard Corsets designed to give youthful roundness to those lines of the tall, slender figures that are not sufficiently curved.

Understanding your type is one of the most important aids to beauty you will ever find. Remember that whatever your figure may be there are Gossard Corsets with just the support you need at your age and weight to give you the proper proportions of the type to which you belong. Gossards are moderately priced, launder beautifully, will outwear two or even three ordinary corsets and will give you a comfort such as you never knew before.

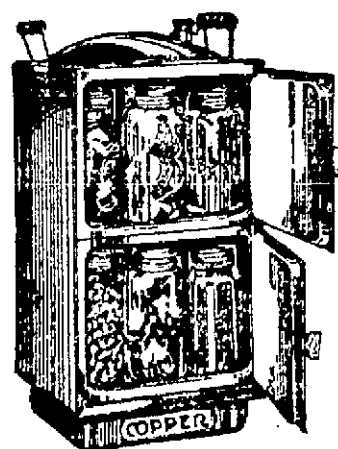

Gossard trade marked Corsets as low in price as $2.00

City Loses Second Round In Building Code Suit

$150,000 Damage Suit Is Filed Against N. & W.

The City of Portsmouth lost the second round in the injunction suit brought against Abraham S. Winkel to test out the Building Code. Court of Appeals, in an opinion received today finding in favor of Winkel and holding that the section of the Code which sought to prevent property owners from erecting a building less than three feet from their property line is invalid.

The court in its decision says "that while the Code is a proper exercise of police power, the ordinance takes from the owners unequally: it is partial and oppressive, and hence illegal, in the particular indicated."

The suit was originally brought to prevent Winkel from constructing an apartment house extending up to the boundary lines of his premises on Fourth street, and Common Pleas court found in favor of the City. The higher court did not pass on other issues involved in the suit.

Attorneys Harry W. Miller and Solidor Sherrard Johnson for the City, and Judge Blair for Winkel.

In common pleas court late Monday afternoon, Attorneys E. G. Miller and E. J. Daehler filed a $150,000 damage suit against the N. & W. the result of E. C. Howard, of Naurou, West Side, being killed while at work in the N. & W. yards on April 5, last. Howard, a car repairer, was crushed to death when a train bumped into the car under which he was working.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Pauline Howard, the widow, who in her petition alleges that the accident resulted from negligence on the part of the defendant and it could have been prevented had a derailler been used on the spur line under which Howard was working and also of the lock on the switch leading to the spur line, had been locked.

Cattle Dipping War Brings U. S. Troops Into Action

JACKSON, MISS., July 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Armed with machine guns and rifles, a federal force has "dug in" in Amite county where a "cattle dipping war" is in progress, according to reports reaching here.

Henry Pruick was shot and killed by officers when it was alleged he was attempting to blow up a dipping vat with dynamite.

Forty-eight vats have been blown up near Liberty during the last few weeks by unidentified persons.

Dr. Wilbur McPherson, agent with the bureau of animal industry, announced today machine guns had been mounted to protect the remaining vats.

The officers in charge have orders to protect life and property, he said.

Cattle dipping is a federal requirement in fever-tick infested areas. Many stock men refuse to dip their cattle, declaring some cattle are hurt while being bathed, cows are separated from their young, some swallow the solution and become sick and there is the expense and trouble of rounding up the cattle for the frequent plunges.

Stock men refusing to obey the regulation, are arrested and fined. Vagrancy is a frequent occurrence in the quarantined areas of the south.

Urged To Lift Sugar Boycott

NEW YORK, July 16.—(By the Associated Press)—Housewives, who took part in the recent consumers' strike to force sugar prices down are advised to lift the boycott and buy sugar with reasonable freedom for raising and other purposes, in a letter from Mrs. Julian Heath, president of the National Housewives' League, made public today.

"In my judgment," Mrs. Heath writes, "the housewife may gradually and carefully resume her sugar buying and can her usual supply of fruit. She must not hoard. The gradual resumption of buying will produce a steady market and thus avoid a violent gain in sugar prices. Not only is home canning an economy if fruit is bought right, but the housewife must look far ahead to the possible increase in the price of commercial canned fruits if there be no home competition. We also have another function to fill, the absorption of the crops lest the farmers lose and their loss be reflected next year."

Torture Of Moros, Charged

MANILA, P. I., July 16.—(By the A. P.)—Sensational charges of cold-blooded murder and torture of Moros on the Island of Basilan by members of the Philippine constabulary stationed there were laid today before Governor General Leonard Wood by Captain Dolphian of the inter-island steamer Midget. The governor has ordered a sweeping investigation.

Captain Dolphian detailed the alleged murder of an aged, unnamed Moro, who had acted as mail carrier at Basilan. He said the old man had just delivered the mail to the constabulary barracks when a sergeant shot him down as he turned to leave. Dolphian declared a lieutenant of the constabulary was a witness of the affair but made no protest.

The inter-island skipper asserted that the constabulary troops torture the Moros by stringing them up by their thumbs and by driving pegs between their toes after their feet have been tightly bound.

He added that the dominating behavior of the constabulary was breeding trouble on the Island of Basilan, which threatened to break out in an uprising against the government.

WHEAT GOES UNDER A DOLLAR

Cincinnati Times-Star

FOR the first time since the beginning of the World War, wheat sold for less than a dollar a bushel in Chicago Wednesday and Thursday. Flour also is lower than at any time since 1915.

This is one of the significant facts of our time. It goes far to explain why people are wondering whether a Republican will carry Minnesota in the special election this week: why discontent is common in the wheat producing state of the Northwest, and why farmers everywhere are either growing at the contrast between their earnings and hours and those of people in the city, or are picking up and moving to the cities themselves.

Farmers who produce a variety of food stuffs, and who live near the great markets, are able to do fairly well. But farmers who live in the sparsely settled states and produce only great staples like wheat or corn, face no pleasant prospect. They get little, if any, more for their product than they did before the war, while they have to pay much more for everything they have to buy, including labor.

It has been argued during the Minnesota campaign that the farmer has been getting 90c for wheat—the Minnesota equivalent of $1.00 or $1.05 in Chicago—and that it costs him $1.30 to produce it. And that, say the Minnesotans, necessarily means bankruptcy.

We had to have deflation after the war. But deflation as it actually occurred was uneven and cruel to an unbelievable degree. Some great corporations were affected only slightly and temporarily; others lost all the surpluses accumulated through years in a few months of 1920. Wages, in some lines, have either remained stationary or, after a pause, have resumed their upward climb. In other lines, even in the cities, wages are considerably lower than in 1919. But the farmer, and particularly the farmer who lives away from the great markets, has suffered most of all.

City people who are doing well in the matter of wages or earnings may think that wheat at the lowest prices since 1914 is a fine thing. It is not a fine thing, at least until deflation has been carried out more evenly in other directions. It is absurd to think that the farmers of a country like this can permanently get the worst of it, as compared with people living in the cities. Agriculture is and always has been our greatest industry. Brains and energy and capital on the farm in the long run will have to be paid as well as brains and energy and capital in the cities.

The present swing of the scales against the farmer is one of the things that are wrong with the United States at the present moment! There can be no stability, political or otherwise, while such a condition exists.

IT DOESN'T LOOK LIKE IT

THOSE who know it for time to come say the people are surfeited with war and it will be a long time before they will let their rulers and masters drive them into another conflict.

Let us see about that—the people are tired of the shedding of human gore.

Thursday night, in the steaming miasma of a Jersey bog, 160,000 people brought themselves together, at a cost of anywhere from $1.10 to $18.43.

What for?
To see two almost stark naked gladiators, each as the coming and come back champion bruiser of the world. They beat ears into pulp, smashed noses, bruised faces and battered bodies, and the throng cheered wildly, its ecstasy increasing as the battle raged on to battering and beating grew more fierce and bloody.

Then when one was knocked down to semi-unconsciousness and the hand of the victor was raised aloft by the referee, 160,000 throats, let out a cheer that could be heard for miles around. And the victor was a stranger in the land, a traveler from far away Argentina and the vanquished an American from somewhere—everybody once knew exactly where—from out west.

Wonders never cease. Wheat dropped Tuesday to the lowest price since 1914 and the next day flour declined. To be sure flour only went down to the war price of 1915, but it heard the news quickly and sympathetically at that.

As we read Governor Harding's interview he is dead certain that Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska and Kansas are going to re-elect that other Harding, but is mortally afraid they will not.

Like the impartiality with which the weather man is dispensing rains. He sends them down with refreshing frequency in showers that are impartially distributed over the country.

EVERETT TRUE

BY CONDO

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, July 16.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up bedtimes and to breakfast with Will Gibson, the art editor, and, we saw a fellow with a pet raccoon which frightened me, having once been bitten by one.

Walked through the town and put in at Dr. George Dorsey's and he at work on an anthropological treatise. So I played with his cat until Will Johnston came and then we cast dice for pennies until the doctor drove us out in a great pet.

All afternoon at my scribbling and with fair ease and then to see the Park Avenue street fair, gay with color, and all the society ladies of the town there, but I know none of them.

In the evening my wife and I to the Club Royale for dinner with Rupert Hughes and his daughter and afterward to dance. So home and to bed very tired.

Over on the East Side a teacher offered a dollar prize to the class in short-story writing. The prize story was to be judged for including four essentials—the deity, royalty, levity and brevity. Our freckled faced pea shooter wrote this: "My God, cried the Duchess, 'you've stepped on my foot!'"

Misha Elman's laundryman is named Hefetz, and Bebe Daniels has a hair dresser named Mary Pickford.

When a recent visiting English Lord was here, there was one man he did not impress with his scholarship. He put up at a club and the first day said to the servant: "Here is $50. I shall be busy while here. I shall depend upon you to order my meals, read the headlines to me from the morning papers and my mail. When I leave there will be an additional fee." When his Lordship departed, he called the servant and gave him $100. "Thank you," said the servant. "If any other members of your family who can't read or write come over, I'll be glad to serve them."

In the upper reaches of Harlem is a picturesque house-bout colony. There are hundreds of residents who live there during summer months in perfect harmony. All about the wooded shore are ancient houses that have towers and cupolas. The river cradles a huge flotilla of small craft—paddle boats, canoes, cat boats, skiffs, small sail boats and the like. Children are rocked to sleep in boats and mothers drift out with their knitting and sewing. The colony is composed of people in the so-called middle class. Most of them have spent cramped lives in walk-up apartments. The great open spaces and the creep of the sea thrill them as nothing else can.

For some time Wilson Mizner, Broadway's snappiest raconteur, has been missed from his gay haunts in the Roaring Forties. Word came the other day that the vaillant old war-horse has established himself in Florida, where he is selling building bricks to intrepid adventurers in Florida's real estate. Mizner's old gang of cronies has also disappeared from the white lights—Frank Ward O'Malley is at Deal, N. J.; Tad Dorgan rarely comes to town from Great Neck and Hippo Izoo is some place in the Jersey wilds. The fugitives have not found the White Way as interesting as it used to be. Gone are the Claridge, Shanley's, the Pekin, Knickerbocker. Considine's, and scores of other bright open forums.

Empty it stands, a shell untenanted; Bereft of life, of laughter and of tears; Gone are its guests of long, long yester-years.

Dust are its hosts—all, all as phantoms fled; Through broken panes (once bright as eyes now dead) The foggy breeze awakes the chandeliers;

Their crystal lustres tinkle in our ears; The ghost of voices argentine. Our tread Wakes echoes in the moldy music room.

"Here it is," said the clerk, who wanted to be sociable. "Are you getting it for a friend?"

Some Surprise "My wife never reads the beauty hints on the woman's page, but she always looks to see of there isn't a new recipe there so she can give us a little surprise for our evening dinner," remarked a tired business man.

Prima Facie Evidence Stranger (at rate)—Boy, is your mother at home?

Youngster—Say! Do you suppose I'm movin' this yard just because the grass is long?

Always Something Wrong "Well, I'll tell you"—slowly began Gap Johnson, of Rumpus Ridge.

"Tell me which?" inquired Gabe Gosnell.

"What seems to me to be the matter with a lot of us fellers yurabouts. In summer it's too hot the most of the time to work, and in winter it's too cold. In the spring we're mostly got spring fever, and in the fall we're getting ready for—winter."—Kansas City Star.

What Kind of Bait Young Lady (on her first visit to Western Ranch)—For what purpose do you use that coil of line on your saddle?

Cowpuncher—That line, as you call it, lady, we use to catch cattle and horses.

Young Lady—Oh, indeed! Now may I ask what do you use for bait?—Business Envelopes.

Wise Jottings Woman needs no eulogist; she speaks for herself.

Men who say that life is a burden make others tired.

The list of heirs to an estate usually includes one or more lawyers. Speaking of well-preserved women, Lot's wife was probably the best of them.

An old bachelor says that a man with more money than brains is an easy mark for the fair sex.

When a man is young he always wants to have his own way; afterward, he gets married and then he never does.

Lexicographical "Ever notice the French word 'etats'?"

"No. What about it?"

"Take it backward and you have its meaning in English."

"Well, if you've got to have a foreign language, that's the way to have it. Why can't all French words be like that?"—Louisville Courier-Journal.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM BEYOND THE PALE

By Berton Braley TRY to love my fellow man. I do in all sincerity!

And it is very seldom that I fail. I know that I have every need for tolerance and charity.

And other folks are similarly frail. I can forgive a lot of things, from forgery to homicide.

Most every sin that history reveals. But there's one sort of criminal who brushes all my calm aside—

The bird who wields a toothpick after meals!

CAN forgive some guys who live a life of deep depravity. But not the goot who probes in every tooth.

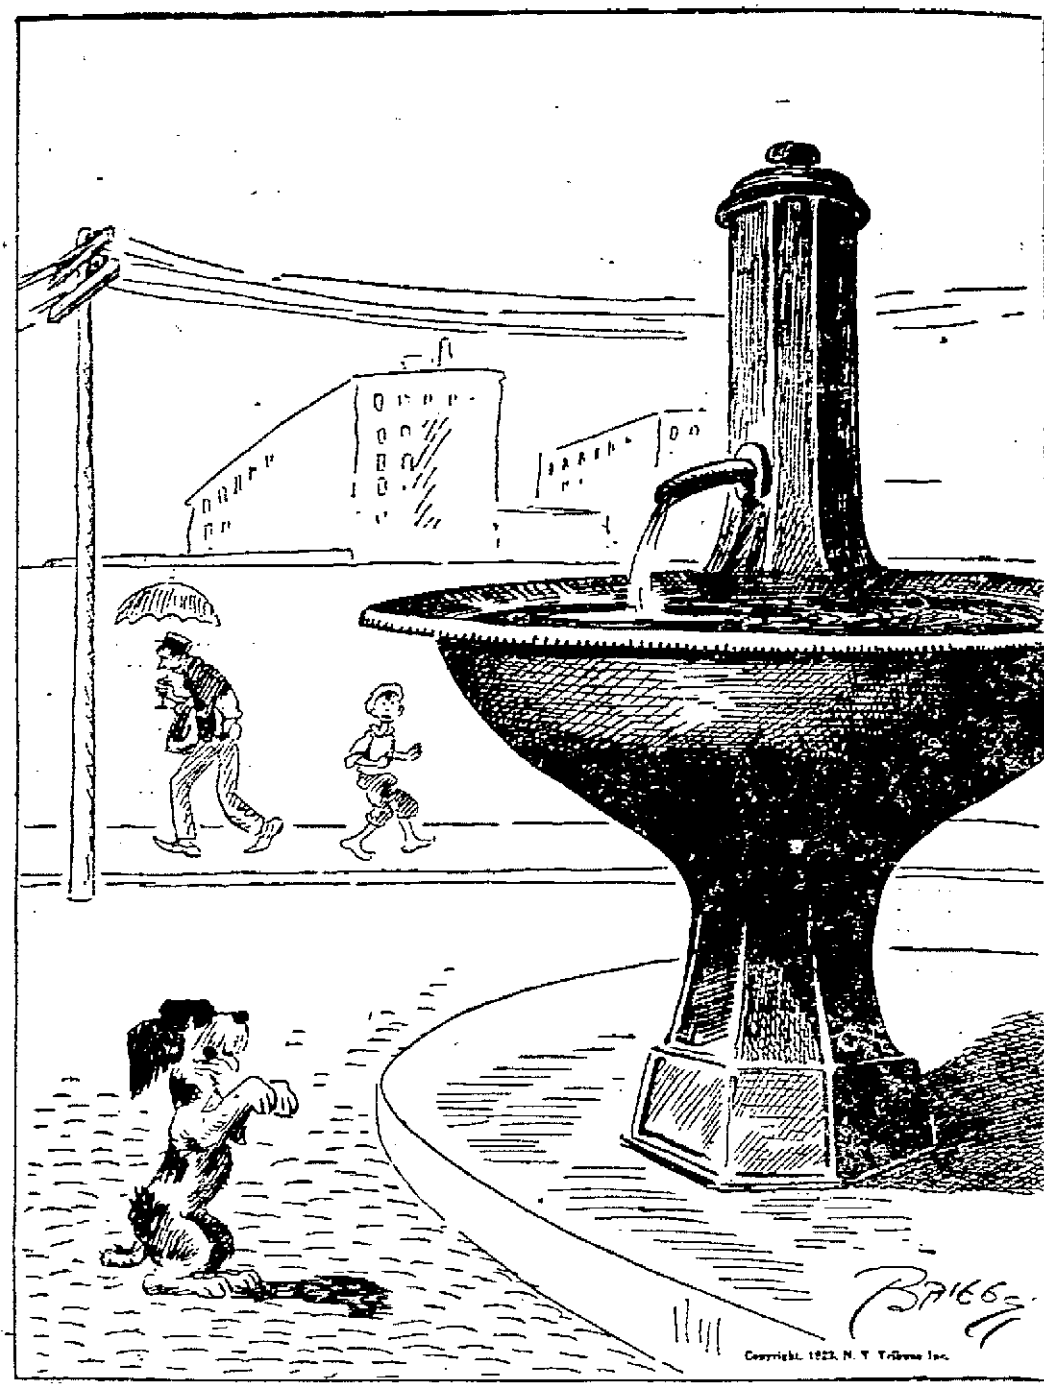

Who tries to trace within his face the locus of a cavity: He drives me to insanity in truth! I know that I have faults galore—too many to be numbering—

So I cannot be harsh upon a sinner; But nix upon the sort of man who mixes meals with lumbering!

The bird who wields a toothpick after dinners!
